Charlotte Goddin, Guild Librarian

"Hooking Rugs" with Gloria E. Crouse and "Rug Weaving: Block Weaves and Shaft Switching" with Jason Collingwood are two VHS tapes that were both recently donated to the Guild by Brooks Stevens.

"Hooking Rugs" was videotaped in Ms. Crouse's studio and home. In it she shares her fun with texture, color and form, choosing and preparing materials, and using basic tools for a host of unusual techniques, many of which invented.

It is her intention to help viewers turn their ideas into designs for hooking rugs. She incorporates a wide variety of stitches and effects, all with just two simple tools. Ms. Crouse works with unusual materials and uses hooking to personalize wall hangings, rugs, and upholstery.

Jason Collingwood's "Rub Weaving: Block Weaves and Shaft Switching" expects you to have an understanding of basic weaving terminology, know how to read a 4-harness weaving draft, and be able to thread a loom. The tools you will need are a 4-harness loom, linen warp, wool weft, ski or stick shuttles, a curved tapestry needle, and a temple. Mr. Collingwood has been a professional rug weaver since 1987

The video includes all you need to know in order to weave a durable weft-faced rug. It begins with a discussion on tools and materials and provides step-by-step instructions on how to warp the loom. He covers beaming for high tension, ensuring neat, durable selvages, and finishing fringes. The viewer will learn how to create blocks of color using standard threading and then how to change the placement of the blocks to place color and alter the design. This method of manipulating warp threads (shaft switching) allows almost unlimited possibilities for color placement using only a 4-harness loom. Mr. Collingwood demonstrates on a jack-type floor loom and shows how to adapt any loom to shaft switching.

Warped Weavers

The Warped Weavers are busily weaving, creating absolute masterpieces. I personally have finished a project and am working on the next. Of the crackle project that I have struggled with, I cut out the 5" that I have woven and changed my tie-up. I realized that I much prefer more complex treadlings. I find myself getting bored with a four treadle pattern. I need complexity in my weaving life or my brain wanders when I should be concentrating on weaving. Then there is no telling what I end up with. But I can't have it too complex, then I get too confused. It seems to be a fine line that I often struggle with. Much like other things in my life. I need multiple projects in weaving, spinning, knitting and a little something to sew. But too many and I just don't do anything. I need a balance of activities; music, dog training, fiber stuff, home, grandkids. But when you throw in the yard work....I get overwhelmed. It all reminds me of a song from my teenage years that I use to play on the guitar, "To everything, turn, turn, turn, there is a season...". So as the grass starts to grow I realize something will have to be set aside for a while.....Well, it sure isn't going to be weaving!

I have been so impressed with the beautiful things produced by our Warped Weavers. Everyone has created absolute works of art. So I would like to challenge all of you to put your lovely items in the gallery at the Fiber Fair. Let everyone see what we create.

Happy Weaving!
Mary Ellen

Fiber Fest News

Our Fiber Fest is almost here! I hope you're getting excited about this great opportunity for great classes and great shopping! Our class offerings are amazing so if you haven't already signed up take a look and get registered. We need to meet the teacher minimums for all of them so spread the word. We have loads of vendors coming- many of them new.

Support our raffle. It's our major fund raising activity. I need volunteers to walk through the vendor halls to sell raffle tickets. This is an ideal activity for teens. Please contact Kathie. We can accept raffle items up to the start of the Fest.

The gallery gives us the opportunity to show what we do so please participate by bringing your fiber creations. Contact Laurel Cahoon if you have questions.

We are transitioning from very few people doing most of the work to a much healthier and more resilient organization where more people participate and contribute their skills, talents, and time. I have certainly benefited from this and I want to thank everyone.

Kathie (339-3873)

Opportunities to share our love of the fiber arts,

Lisa Shiosaki Olsen from Rocky Mountain Middle School has asked if we would be interested in demonstrating any of our skills at their Renaissance Fair on Wednesday, June 3. Waiting for more details from Lisa, but please let Kate, iwantsheep@ida.net or 521-5343, know if you are interested in participating.

Michelle Jorgensen, a park ranger at Harriman State Park, contacted us to participate in the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the Idaho Department of Parks and Recreation. Harriman State Park is hosting a three-day event, July 24 - 26, 2015 with the theme Harriman Heritage Days, highlighting unique western heritage and spirit of outdoor recreation in Idaho. The Park is seeking artisans of all kinds, jewelry makers, musicians, farmers, mountain men and women, food vendors, and others to share their unique products and talents with the community. Several Guild members are planning to attend. How about you? Please contact Kate if you would like to participate.
